CONSUMER EXPERIENCE DESIGN

Market Research and Digital Communication Concept for Scheidmann

Presented By: Rashela Kotherja, Iris Cena, Salwa Mustafa

OUR GOAL

Our goal is to develop a communication strategy that enhances the customer journey through clear messaging, emotional support, and user-friendly digital tools.
We will also explore a potential social media campaign, email marketing, and a clear brand script based on our strategy.

ABOUT THE BRAND

Scheidmann Alltagsbegleitung provides reliable care for elderly individuals, supporting family caregivers by providing the best healthcare services and ensuring professionalism. The brand focuses on empathy, trust, and respect, offering personalized services that promote independence and quality of life for both clients and their families.

WHO ARE WE ADDRESSING?

Primary User

This user is typically an adult between 35 and 60, often a woman who has suddenly become responsible for making care decisions for an aging parent. She may live close by or far away, but in both cases she's busy, overwhelmed, and new to the world of elder care. She visits the website looking for quick, clear, trustworthy guidance that helps her make the right decisions without wasting time.

Secondary User

This user is a senior aged 70+ living at home, either alone or with family, and dealing with health conditions that make daily tasks difficult. They often feel guilty about relying on their children and struggle to manage multiple medications or routines. They respond best to simple, calm, patient communication that makes them feel supported rather than overwhelmed.

SHE FEELS OVERWHELMED

NAME	Ellie
AGE:	43 years old
OCCUPATION:	Accountant & Freelancer
STATUS:	Married, 2 children

ABOUT THE USER:

Ellie is a 43-year-old mother of two living in Berlin. She works full-time as an accountant while freelancing on the side, and she's the only child responsible for her elderly, ill mother. She tries to balance work, family life, and caregiving, but the constant coordination, research, and emotional pressure leave her overwhelmed. She wants reliable support she can trust, clear information, and a way to care for her mother without sacrificing her own stability.

PROBLEMS:

- She has to figure everything out on her own because she's completely new to the process.
- She doesn't have enough time to manage her mother's care alongside her own responsibilities.
- Her mother lives far away, making coordination and daily support much harder.

PAINPOINTS:

- She feels constantly overwhelmed and stressed by everything she has to handle.
- She carries a lot of guilt and worries she's not doing enough for her mother.
- She struggles to trust services and feels unsure about what's included or how much it will cost.

SHE FEELS LIKE A BURDEN

NAME	Stephanie
AGE:	72 years old
ILLNES:	Alzheimer
STATUS:	Lives alone, has 1 child

ABOUT THE USER:

Stephanie is a 72-year-old woman living alone while managing Alzheimer’s, and the illness has slowly taken away her ability to handle daily tasks safely. She forgets important things like medication, struggles with appointments, and feels increasingly anxious throughout the day. Even though she has one daughter, she worries about being a burden and feels lonely, scared of falling, and frustrated when her memory slips. She needs steady, compassionate support that helps her stay safe and feel less alone.

PROBLEMS:

- She can’t manage her daily tasks on her own anymore.
- She forgets important things, including her medication.
- She can’t stay alone and needs help with appointments and safety.

PAINPOINTS:

- She feels lonely and anxious throughout the day.
- She feels guilty and like a burden to her daughter.
- She’s scared of falling and frustrated when she forgets things.

MARKET ANALYSIS

MARKET OVERVIEW

> The number of people in need of long-term care in Germany will go up by 37% until 2055 just because the population is ageing. Their number will increase from roughly 5.0 million at the end of 2021 to approximately 6.8 million in 2055.
>
> Federal Statistical Office

- Aging population increases the need for at-home elder care
- Family caregivers (35–60) are overwhelmed and searching for clear guidance
- Seniors want to stay at home but struggle with daily tasks and medication
- Digital solutions are becoming the first place families look for help
- Trust, clarity, and emotional reassurance are major decision factors

MARKET ANALYSIS

MARKET GAPS & OPPORTUNITY

- Information is scattered, confusing, and often written in bureaucratic language
- Services don’t address the emotional stress and guilt caregivers feel
- Seniors need simple, patient communication but rarely receive it
- Families want transparent pricing and clear service explanations
- Opportunity: a platform that offers clarity, emotional support, and easy decision-making stands out immediately

SCHEIDMANN WEBSITE ANALYSIS

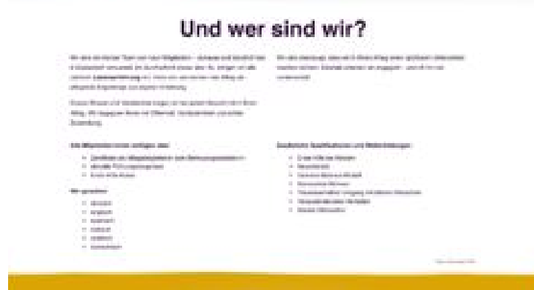

Website

The scheidmann.de website speaks directly to the pressure caregivers feel and presents the service as a trustworthy, supportive option. The layout is straightforward, making it easy to explore services, pricing, contact details, and the Budget Planner for understanding costs. The service descriptions are clear and honest, and the many client testimonials add a strong sense of credibility and reassurance.

Strengths

- Strong emotional connection and empathetic messaging
- Transparent pricing and clear financing explanations
- Interactive Budget Planner adds real value
- Rich testimonials that build trust
- Simple, clear navigation

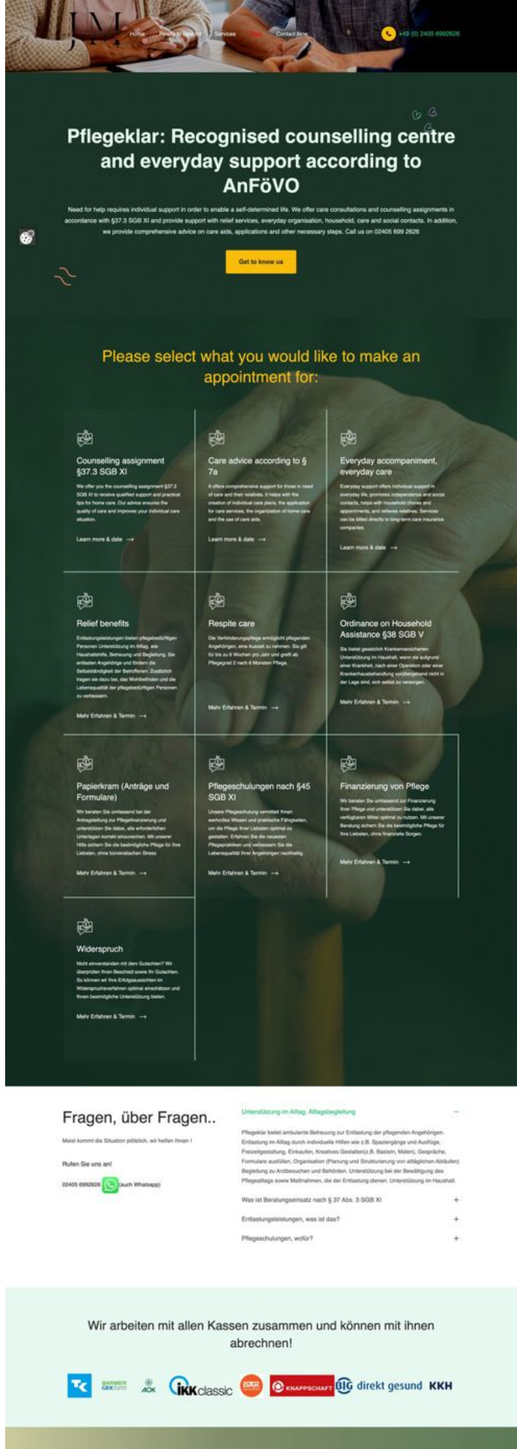

Weakneses

- Visual design could be more modern and structured
- Limited educational content (guides, FAQs, resources)
- Narrow geographic focus reduces reach

COMPETETOR ANALYSIS

Pflegeklar.de is a regional provider in NRW offering non-medical everyday support that helps seniors stay at home through Alltagsbegleitung and Alltagsbetreuung. The service focuses on practical, day-to-day assistance for seniors and relief for relatives who are under time or emotional pressure. Their website is clear and easy to understand, with good local SEO, though it offers limited interactive features.

WHY THIS COMPETETOR?

- Pflegeklar.de serves the same target group as Scheidmann.de.
- Focuses on seniors needing daily assistance and those with a care level using the relief allowance.
- Also targets relatives and family caregivers managing care responsibilities.
- Audience overlap makes Pflegeklar a relevant benchmark for competition and service comparison.

PFLEGEKLAR WEBSITE ANALYSIS

Strengths

- Clear and transparent service descriptions
- Strong local presence and community trust
- Simple, easy-to-understand communication
- Good local SEO and visibility

Weakneses

- Very limited geographic reach
- Little differentiation from similar providers
- Shallow content with no digital tools
- Website lacks emotional depth and modern UX

COMPARISON

RAPHAELA SCHEIDMANN
ALLTAGSBEGLEITUNG

Scheidmann.de offers a more emotional and user-focused experience, with detailed service descriptions, transparent pricing, and strong trust elements like testimonials and an interactive Budget Planner. The website guides users clearly through their options and provides deeper content that supports decision-making.

Pflegeklar.de, in contrast, is simpler and more locally focused, with straightforward service explanations and strong regional visibility. However, it offers fewer digital features, less emotional storytelling, and more limited content depth. Overall, Scheidmann.de provides a richer, more supportive online experience, while Pflegeklar.de relies on clarity and local presence.

BRAND SCRIPT

The Family Caregiver is the hero, and Scheidmann Alltagsbegleitung is the guide that offers a clear solution to their struggles.

The Hero

The family caregiver trying to balance work, caregiving, and personal life and also having this burden of not being able to take care of their loved one.

The Villan

The illness has become an obstacle to both of them. The mother cant take care of hersekf and feels like a burden to her daughter and the daughter feels exhausted and incapable to help her mother.

The Guide

He meets Scheidmann Alltagsbegleitung that provides clear, reliable support. Understanding first the familycaregiver and ensuring the best care for their loved ones.

The Transformation

The family caregiver feels reassured, confident, and supported, while the elderly mother gains the care she needs in her own safe and trusted environment.

WHAT WE STAND FOR?

CORE BRAND POSITIONING

Scheidmann.de should position itself as the warm, trustworthy, emotionally intelligent guide for families navigating everyday care.

The brand stands for:

- clarity in a confusing care system
- emotional relief for overwhelmed relatives
- reliable, human-centered everyday support
- This positioning differentiates it from competitors who focus only on tasks or logistics.

HOW WE POSITION OUR BRAND ?

BRAND MESSAGE & TONE

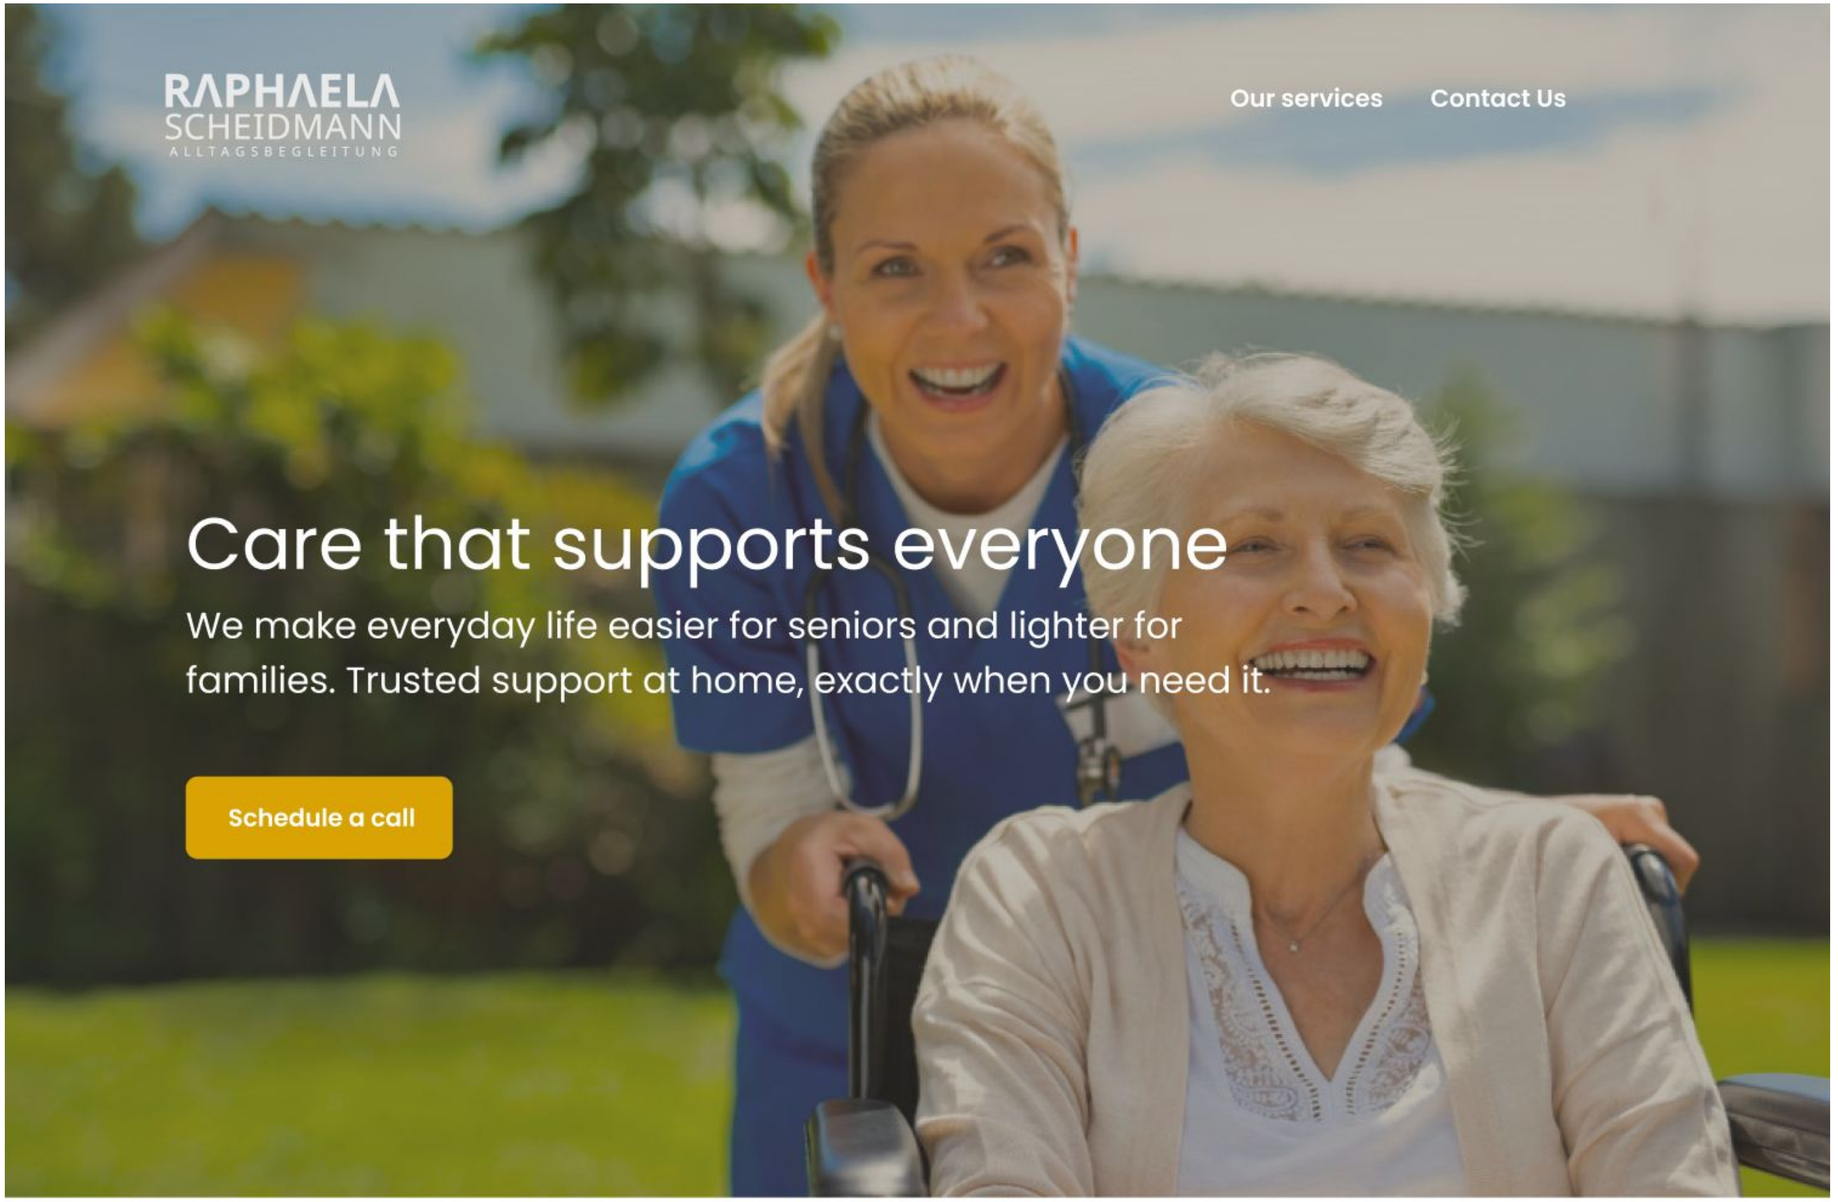

KEYWORDS

Calm Warm Reassuring Clear Empathetic

Message:

You are not alone we understand you and take care for both you and your loved one!

The brand message should come across as warm, calm, and genuinely supportive, using simple language that reassures families rather than overwhelming them. Direct ways to get in touch should always be visible, and explanations should stay clear and jargon-free so users feel guided, not confused. Real testimonials and small emotional stories help show the human side of the service, reinforcing the feeling that they’re not facing everyday care challenges alone.

Transparent Budget Planning

We bill monthly. If long-term care benefits are available, these can be used to cover the costs.

At the start, we agree on the number of hours and give you a clear cost overview. You can see which benefits are used and whether any additional payment applies.

All extra costs (e.g. outings or materials) are shown separately and clearly.

Budgets
You decide which budgets we use. We can bill our services via the following budgets of the long-term care insurance:

Relief benefits (§45b SGB XI)
Conversion of care benefits in kind (§45a SGB XI)
Respite care (§39 SGB XI)
Private liquidation

BRAND STRATEGY

SOCIAL MEDIA CAMPAIGN

This campaign idea is about encouraging people to share a real moment with someone they care about, creating a warm, human connection around the brand. It ties Scheidmann's message to everyday closeness and shows the service as part of meaningful relationships, not just practical support. It's simple, emotional, and easy for people to join in.

SOCIAL MEDIA CAMPAIGN

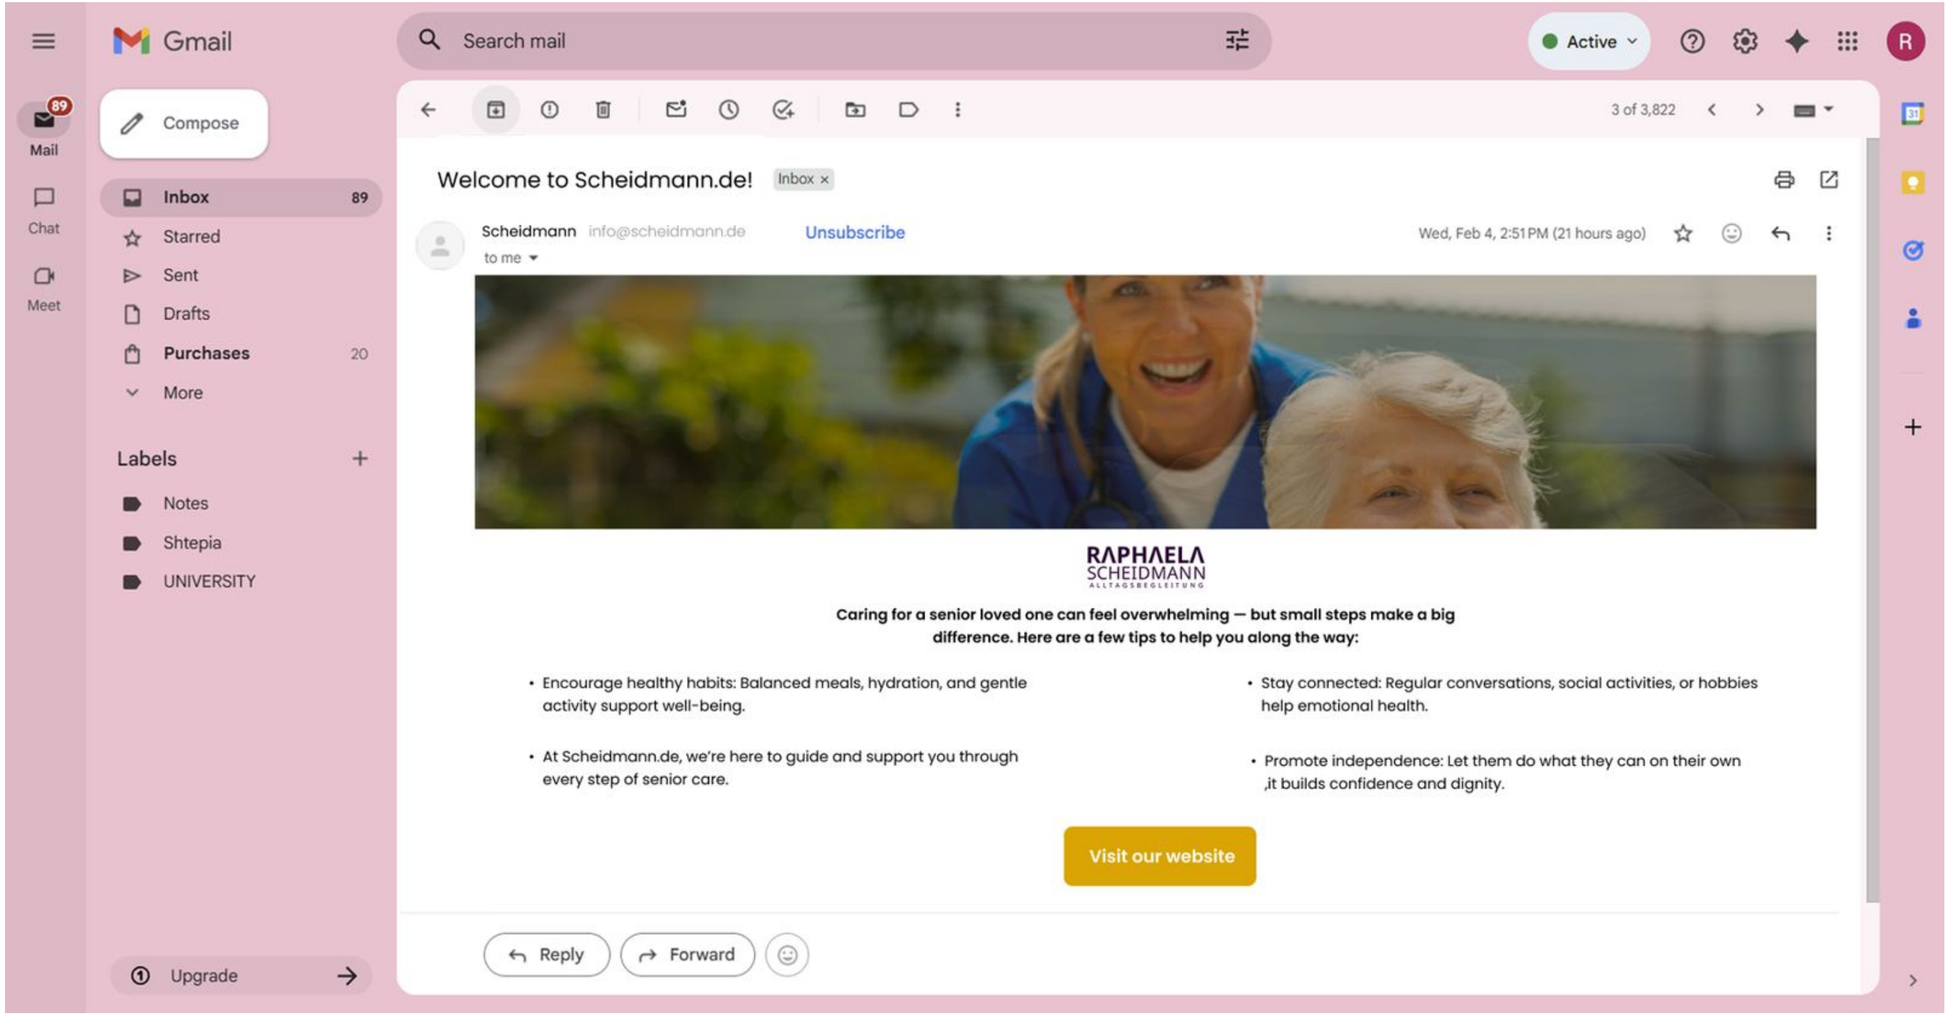

This ad campaign targets individuals aged 35-60 in Germany, focusing on family caregivers seeking senior care services. Using emotional imagery and relevant hashtags, it encourages users to visit the website for professional, compassionate care options. The campaign aims to build trust and connect with those in need of senior care support.
